

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An information recording apparatus for dividing continuous record information and recording it in a DVD 1 in which target record 5 information is recorded is provided. The apparatus includes: an operation unit 15 for specifying a division timing in the record information; a pickup 2 for recording in the recording medium front part record information that is record information before the specified division timing, and rear part record information that is record 10 information after the specified division timing; a system controller 7 for generating permission information indicating whether or not it is enabled that at least one of the front part record information and the rear part record information is further divided. The pickup 2 further records the generated permission information in the DVD 1.